Coins from a Fountain Help Raise Gifts to Christmas Fund to $4,636

ELVES IN THE COUNTING HOUSE: Two members of TOWN TOPICS' office staff, Clare Baxter and Sylvia Reed, appropriately attired for the season, count the coins from the fountain which were given to the Christmas Fund.

In the 33 years since it was first issued, TOWN TOPICS' Christmas Appeal has been the recipient of numerous gifts other than those from a checkbook. Possibly the most unusual was brought to 4 Mercer Street Tuesday afternoon in a glass container.

Inside the small jug were coins-mostly pennieswhich had been tossed into the tountain centered in the plaza on Palmer Square East. Members of the maintenance staft of the Square painstakingly collected them and brought them to TOWN TOPICS as a contribution to the Christmas Fund.

It had, they said, been two years since the coinspresumably thrown there to the accompaniment of wishes silently made by passersby-had last been taken from the fountain. Those minted in the U.S. totalled $8.55; the collection also included three French centimes, one Libyan coin and one plain, ordinary slug, albeit made of copper.

The coins helped bring the current total contributed to the Christmas Fund to $4,636.95. Every dollar received goes to the assistance of individuals and families in Princeton whose need has been certified by the Family Service Agency. All administrative costs are met by TOWN TOPICS

One of the contributions received this week came from the Borough Housing Authority, whose check was accompanied by a note advising that the money was being sent to the Christmas Fund in place of the cards which normally go at this time of year to residents of the various projects which the Authority maintains

A woman requested anonymity.

"I hope this small amount will be of some help somehow. Please do not give my name to the persons to whom this money will go. It is not necessary-God has blessed me abundantly."

Contributions in answer to the Appeal may be made by check payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund, mailed to Post Office Box 664, Princeton, or brought to 4 Mercer Street. Money received is used not just at Christmastime but on a year-round basis.

Collins Development New Owner of Palmer Square For $17 Million — Playhouse To Be Razed Shortly

The eight-acre town center that is Palmer Square will have a new Princeton University announced Sunday that its trustees have signed a contract to sell the Square for $17 million to Arthur Collins and Arthur D. Emil, principals of the Collins Development Corporation of Princeton and Old Greenwich, Conn. The contract was approved Friday on behalf of the trustees by their executive committee.

Final closing will not take place for several months, and there will be no sketches of a new, expanded Square for several weeks, Mr. Collins said

Collins Development is the firm that has restored the mansion at Constitution Hill, between Stockton and Rosedale, and is building condominium houses there.

"We're delighted and honored," Mr. Collins told reporters at a press conference. "We look forward to making plans for expanding the hotel and the shops and solving the parking problems, to create something we'll all be proud of."

So far, he explained, plans are only conceptual; however, he plans an emphasis on residential townhouses-including some for saleand an increase in stores and restaurants.

All existing structures between Nassau and Hulfish will be preserved. But the Playhouse will be torn down-by the University, in the next several weeks-and there will be almost all new construction between Hulfish and Paul Robeson

"The Playhouse simply is in the way," Mr. Collins said. "We must be able to go all the way down to Robeson Place and back again. The Playhouse would destroy the sense of 'place.' "

Princeton University's President William Bowen remarked that every developer the University talked toand about 70 expressed an interestwanted to remove the Playhouse.

Where the Playhouse and its parking lot now are, Mr. Collins said, there will be parking for 600 cars underneath the Square, with a plaza on top. Because of the northward slope, he explained, there will be little need for excavation, and cars will be parking only two or three feet above grade at Robeson Place.

"This hides the cars, and that's important," he emphasized. "We've done this kind of thing elsewhere. There will be no parking garage up in the air-that hurts the scale,"

On the west side of the Square, he plans two- or three-story garages holding 400 cars, for a total 1,000car capacity.

Under terms of the contract, President Bowen explained, the University has the right to approve the Collins plan, as submitted to the Planning Board, Borough Council or other agencies, but Mr. Emil added that the University "may not unreasonably withhold such approval."

"Of all the problems that will plague this developer," President Bowen laughed, "University approval is not one!"

For example, Mr. Emil said, "If we decide on a theatre to replace the Playhouse, we can build it over the objections of the University," but President Bowen quickly added, "We would not discourage recreational or cultural aspects of the plan.'

Square's New Owner Takes Nostalgic Trip to Princeton of 1950

They were cotton chines in those days, Oxford button-downs, white bucks and a crew cut. And, remembers Arthur Collins, Palmer Square was almost an extension of the Princeton University campus. In his memory, there was less separation of the two than there seems to be today

The new owner of Palmer Square and the man who, with his partner, Arthur Emil, will expand Edgar Palmer's conception to its northern limit, was an undergraduate at Princeton in the late '40s and early '50s. He was graduated in 1952 and returned to earn his Master of Fine Arts in architecture in 1956.

Arthur Collins's attachment to the Square, Nassau Street and Princeton is close and vivid.

'I used to have Sunday breakfast a lot at Renwicks," he recalls. Renwick's, where LaVake's now is, was a coffee shop-restaurant-soda fountain (no liquor) with a mixed clientele of townspeople, high-school students and undergraduates.

"I'd have dinner at the Nassau Tavern with my parents. You don't see students much there now, but I remember all the times I spent in the Tap Room-of course, my initials are carved on a table!-not just with students like mysell, but also with older people.

"The McCarthy hearings were beginning, and I sometimes used to talk, in the Tap Room, with Judge Harold Medina when he was in Princeton. There were never lots of people in the Tap Room, but it was a comfortable group with a lot of camaraderie.

Mr. Collins is reluctant to attribute the change to the fact that the Tap Room is no longer for men only, as it was in his undergraduate days. "It's just that students today are different."

His usage of "Tavern" to define the Nassau Inn is a reminder that the name was quietly changed to "Inn" not long after he left the University. "Tavern" was thought to have a rather raffish sound and to identify a place where there were no overnight accomodations.

"We were all good friends of the shop owners. I remember Bayard Stockton. He owned the liquor store (Cousins), but he was jayvee football coach, too, and I was a football player.

"I was in and out of Langrock's a lot. And when I was a student, The English Shop-or Eric Mihan, at any rate (owner of the shop)-was in the basement of the old campus store. I guess he moved to the Square in the early '50s.'

He remembers Zavelle's, the gift shop that occupied The Princeton Music Center, Princeton Book Mart and the vacant store next door.

"My memories come back as strongly to these places as to things on campus," Mr Collins reflects.

Police Offer Suggestions for Avoiding Rape; Day-Long Seminar on Self-Protection Possible

What can, what should a woman do to avoid becoming a victim of rape?

Following the report last week of the rape of a woman walking on Witherspoon Street, Chief Michael Carnevale discussed some of the things a woman can do, both physically and mentally

"The most important thing" said Chlef Carnevale, "is to understand it can happen. It can happen to me! This awareness that it can happen becomes the most essential rape prevention capability one can possess.'

At present, it is illegal in New Jersey to carry disabling weapons such as Mace. "People would be charged if it is found in their possession," said Chief Carnevale.

Keys Can Be a Weapon. He recommends that women carry a whistle. A good place would be attached to a key ring. When walking to your car in a lot, earry your keys as a weapon, advised Chief Carnevale. Anchor one against the base of the palm of your hand and let the tip protrude between your clenched fingers.

Walking down a dork street "should immediately trigger a self-contained device within to protect oneself," cantlnued Chief

If a woman thinks she is being followed, he said, she should cross the street. If the person behind her crosses, she should walk some more and cross again. If the one following her also crosses, she should take positive action.

"Look for a police coll box," he said (red boxes on utility poles with a telephone inside to report a fire or emergency.) "We've had muggings within 15 to 20 feet of a call box," he said. "They always seem to forget about them."

"Knock on a door where there is activity, where people are about," he added. "There are many things a woman can do to prevent

Noise Frightens Attackers. If it goes beyond the prevention stage, if a woman is confronted with a sex attack, she must take some defensive action. Shouting and yelling may attract some people to the scene," said Chief Carnevale.

"It might frighten the attacker off - or it might cause him to overreact. A woman must be able to assess the situation ... all this comes into account within a split second," he said.

"Does he look like a person who might be frightened off or does he look like a person who would only become more incensed if hit in a vital area.

"One can only do this if mentally prepared," Chief Carnevale commented. Awareness "that it can happen to me and what can I do if confronted.

Some victims, Chief Carnevale observed, cannot bring themselves to commit an act of violence to protect themselves, even during

Because of the concern of many women about what to do if attacked, Chief Carnevale said that his department would welcome the opportunity to present a oneday seminar on rape, including films and advice from police officials if a sufficient number expressed an interest. He placed the minimum at 12 to 15. The Borough police number is 924-4141.

Woodwinds Associates

Before the icy blasts start to hil your trees, WOODWINDS has some Turther hints and suggestions for their care and protection. Those of you with newly planted trees should pay

Both deciduous and evergreen trees need some type of protection during cold weather for the first three or four years following planting If they are not already staked, deciduous trees should be lastened securely to a sturdy, wellanchored pole to strengthen them in high winter winds. Tie the trees loosely with heavy cord, not wire (to prevent injury to the bark).

Wrap trunks of young trees with a long strip of burlap in order to prevent sunscald, this occurs when the bark of the tree is warmed during the day by the sun, and then is suddenly subjected to freezing temperatures at night, offer resulting in weakened trees and dead limbs. The covering acts as a protective barrier unti develop its own thick bark

As we have been stressing all fall, special attention should be paid to your evergreens this year Due to the severe drought, they will be especially vulnerable to drying winte winds. A winter-proofing spray applied during 40° weather new, and again during a thaw period in fator January-oarly Februery, will prevent ex cessive moisture loss from wind, sun and low tem-

Finally, be sure to apply a three to four inch mulch to prevent excessive ground temperature fluctuation this condition i very damaging to tender root

And last, but most important of al, a deep-root feeding is the most beneficial investment you can make in assuring your trees and shrubs survive in the face of the unusual stresses placed on them lately!

Library's Request for Minimum of 30 Spaces In Parking Lot Backed by Township Committee

Park School." he mused preserved for Library use.

Township Committee gave its backing last week to a parking plan that the Library favors for part of the proposed plaza in front of the new PCH housing for the elderly

At the invitation of Committee, Dennis Woodfield of the Lihrary board of trustees showed sketches of parking alternatives which would provide up to 32 spaces for trustee and former president twice Library use. Pointing that the Library, PCH and "those who want a park," are all competing for a given amount of space, Mr Woodfield said that the Library trustees "have nothing against PCH and feel that PCH would be a good neighbor

"But we got there first," he said, "and we'd like some of the land to be used for parking. The Library needs parking to continue to serve the purpose for which it

The trustees are primarily concerned about accessibility and safety for young children and older people and those who are infirm, he said. Although it is difficult to estimate just how many spaces the Library needs, he put 30 as "the lowest practical number" and 20 "the absolute hottom limit"

Many Review Plan, At the request of Mayor Hobert Cawley, Borough Engineer Genrge Olexa made a number of sketches in October which were reviewed and modified not only by the Library trustees but also by PCH board memhers. The plan that the Library likes best is one that shows two parallel rows of 10 spaces each to the right of the huilding and another 10 spaces to the rear

The two rows would be reduced to one raw and six spaces along the sidewalk curb when and if the Library pushes out the wall of its children's room as part of expansion plans, Taking up about half of the area originally proposed by Venturi and Rauch solely as a plaza, this parking lat would leave a 65- by 100-foot area as open space, bounded by PCH at the rear and the buildings along Spring Street

The main difficulty with the plan is that it puts the parking spaces to the rear of the library to within 13 feet of the PCH dining room. Mr. Olexa thinks that three feet may be a more accurate figure, "Some amenities for PCH may be lost," commented Mayor Josie Hall, "but I don't see how the Library can function without this parking.

A gentleman in the audience who did not identify himself remarked, "In the 1963 decision on where to put the Library, a major factor was a location which neonle can walk to. Now we're told the Library needs parking.

No one was injured and no radio-active materials were involved in the accident, which occurred shortly after noon. According to Anthony DeMeo, manager of communications at Plasma Physics Lab, the accident occurred when a 350-ton stator, the stationary part of a generator, broke loose from the overhead crane that was guiding it into place around the $4 million, 600 ton rotor. The stator dropped 15 feet, crashing onto a concrete floor.

The broken generator is one of two motor generator systems that scientists were planning to use for "breakeven" experiments, in which the energy consumed in bringing about fusion is equalled by the energy produced by the fusion. Mr. DeMeo said that damage to the rotor, if any, was slight and that it is not known yet to what extent the stator was damaged.

Those words describe what the reactor is: a giant doughnut in which electrical energy will be used to heat a "plasma," described as a sort of soup of magnetically contained ionized gasses.

When the plasma is heated beyond a certain temperature thermonuclear fusion will occur, thus producing energy. That process has already occurred in other reactors, including two smaller Tokamaks, also located at the Plasma Lab. However, the other reactors have not attained the break-even point.

Last May, Princeton scientists heated the plasma in one reactor to a record 82 million degrees Celsius. But then, as in all other plasma experiments so far, the amount of energy used to heat the plasma has always been far greater than the energy produced by the resulting fusion.

The LANDAU Philosophy

(It's Really Quite Simple)

PART XVI

THE PROBLEM: The Christmas "Gift Wrapping" dilemma.

One of the many personal services affered to Landou customers is free gift wropping. However, come the Christmas season, it is virtually impossible to wrap each and every custamer's gift purchases.

THE LANDAU SOLUTION:

- (1) We affer to put each item in our attractive Landou gift box, at no charge.
- (2) We remind all of our custamers of the unbounded joy and holiday spirit wrapping packages on Christmas Eve generates.
- (3) We point out that if a gift is wrapped in the store, the purchaser will be unable ta: a) show it to friends, ar b) keep peeking at it.
- (4) But, if you really want us to, we'll be more than happy to wrap your purchases in pretty haliday paper.

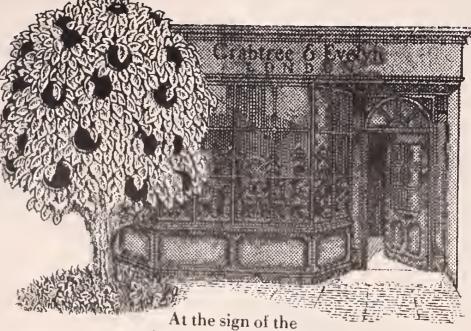

Gift wrapping and/ar gift boxing takes a little extra time. We find, however, that many people hate to wrap and are very appreciative of our efforts.

No matter how busy, we can't forget that service is the most exclusive product we offer. That's a fact, plain and simple.

SENATORS AT WORK

To Bring Channel 9 to State. Acting on a petition filed by New Jersy's senators, the Federal Communications Commission has proposed the transfer of WOR-TV, Channel 9, from New York to New Jersey, if the FCC wins a court fight with the station's present owners.

After the commission voted 5-2 in favor of the petition, Senator Bill Bradley, D-N.J., said: "This FCC response is good news for the people of New Jersey, who have been left without their own commercial VHF television station for two decades and thus have been deprived of an important source of news and information about the state,'

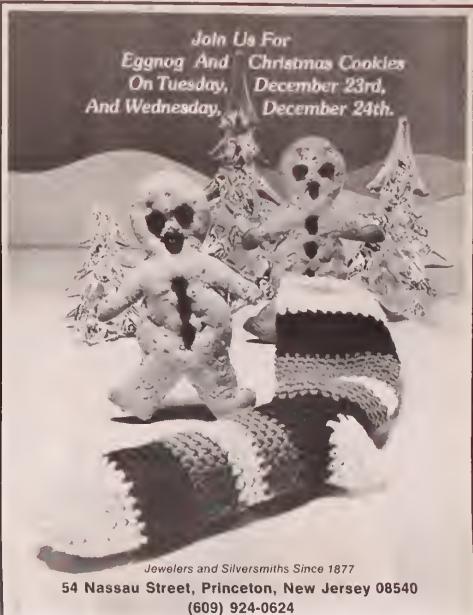

Bradley and Senator Harrison A. Williams formally requested reassignment of Channel 9 last May after the FCC refused to renew the license of RKO General, Inc., declaring the firm unfit to operate the station. RKO has appealed the FCC's decision in federal court. A decision in the case is not expected before more than 20 years that TV service had not been adequate in New Jersey, the nation's eighth most populous state, but had refused to go beyond "second best" remedies resulting in "dismal failures."

In addition, Bradley and Williams stated that the RKO decision provided the commission with the opportunity to "meet the New Jersey problems head-on," since it no longer would be necessary to reallocate one of the ten VHF stations presently assigned to New York and Philadelphia at a possible economic loss to that station.

The FCC will now begin to hear "public comment" on the Bradley-Williams petition. A final review will commence once court action on the case is complete.

The petition stated that the hroadcast transmitter could remain on top of the World Trade Center in Manhattan, with the station itself heing transferred to a site in New Jersey which would be decided by the commission.

An Open Letter to President-Elect Reagan

From the COALITION TO REVERSE THE NUCLEAR ARMS RACE

Dear President-elect Reagan:

We are greatly encouraged by reports that preliminary talks with the USSR on a new arms limitation and reduction treaty could begin within a few weeks of your inauguration. (NY Times 12-1-80)

The importance of signing a nuclear arms limitation treaty promptly can not be overstated. The United States and the Soviet Union both have enough nuclear weapons to annihilate each other totally, yet we both continue to add to our stockpile of these infinitely destructive weapons.

We are convinced that there is no such thing as a "limited nuclear war." Despite the most sophisticated knowledge and calculations, no one in the Pentagon can guarantee that panic won't seize the other side -- or even our side -- once the missiles begin to fly.

That is why we urge you to begin at once the all-important process of talking with -- not at -- the Soviets. Must seven years of difficult negotiations -- much of it under Presidents Nixon and Ford -- be thrown away because the treaty we signed a year and a half ago did not give us greater advantages?

The survival of our country -- even life on this planet -- is at stake. We urge you to make the reversal of the nuclear armaments race the highest priority of your new administration.

Sincerely yours,

Housing Vitalty Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The people of Princeton Borough are most fortunate in having a dedicated hardworking group of people, including Mayor Cawley, the councils, the citizens' committee for the Plan of the Central Business District (C.B.D.) and the committee and organizations of Prince-Community Housing (P.C.H.) who have over a period of several years produced an excellent plan for housing and parking in the

Having been in the real estate business from 1935 to 1974. I can assure anyone who has any doubts that there is a tremendous need for this type of housing and the location selected is ideal for the older people it will house.

The benefits to the community from the plan are many. The movement of older people frees larger units for more appropriate use; the plaza by the Library and the P.C.H. on Witherspoon Street further improves this growing important business area and the parking garage provides help to the merchants in the whole area.

What more appropriate way could there be to use Boroughowned property? When some people say it is worth a great deal and we should be getting Moreover, I expect that the more for it, my reaction is, what better way is there to use public property — the Borough will lease the property to P.C.H. and retain ownership, it will receive rents and benefits, certainly as much or more than what it receives now from parking meters and in human and business "futures" it has tremendous potential.

In my opinion, this is the way to use our resources to build a better Princeton. The recognition that people's needs are our most important concern, individual and corporate, makes us a vital thriving community of people.

DO IT YOUR WAY

This is a great opportunity to build your dream home-before someone else has selected the color schemes, chosen cabinets, fixtures and appliances, or styled the rooms to their taste. This quality custom builder has plans to locate a lovely 4 bedroom 21/2 bath center hall colonial on his 2+ acre lot in a terrific Hillsboro location in which a large family room with fireplace, eat-in kitchen with breakfast room and 26' deck are all part of the purchase price. Call us now to review the plans and

IN-LAWS, GUESTS, CHILDREN VISITING

All would probably love their own private wing of the house - and they can have it, too, with this versatile property in neighboring Montgomery. In addition to the main portion of this immaculate twobedroom home, there's another bedroom (or family room w/ Franklin stove), full bath, small kitchen, and private entrance, plus lovely park-like grounds with old trees. A must to see. $89,900

SOME TREASURES COME IN PACKAGESWe think this is one. An early Pre-Revolutionary stone house with frame addition in charming Lambertville, where more and more people are discovering and restoring the older homes of the town, capturing a period out of the past. Here you can enjoy small city living in a 2 bedroom, 2 bath home with side yard, 2-car garage and parking area on extra lot, plus the advantage of a small efficiency apartment for added income.

WE PROMISE YOU A ROSE GARDEN in the exceptional, fully-fenced back yard of this well-maintained, perfect family house on a 1-block, lightly traveled neighborhood street in Lawrence Township. There's also a vegetable garden, extensive and beautifully-designed flower beds; large, medium and small trees; mature shriibs; your own woods (with treehouse), and a patio. The house is 3 or 4 hedrooms (3+ den?) and feels spacious from its large entrance foyer with views into the living and family rooms to its finished paneled basement. Dressmaker shop plus workshop. It's also cozy and economical - heating is gas and was only $475 last year. Quality features abound: kitchen pot rack, thermostatically controlled attic fans, new (1977) roof with 240# shingles, electric eye/timed driveway floodlight to mention a few. A fine place to raise your family.

A vacuum, two trucks and four or five men are needed for each crew, so leafcollection is a slow operation.

When leaves are being collected, the department has no time for anything else - rebuilding the burned re-cycling shed, getting trucks ready for winter by removing the leaf boxes and putting on sandspreaders, tending municipal parks.

In its $66,050 budget request, can't be drawn yet because Police Chief Fred Porter the department is calculating $3,000 more for gasoline. Men in the department — there are no women - do all their own maintenance, except for problems special radiators. Because of this, they're asking for a new exhaust analyzer for emission control, a new electronic ignition tester, a new ($5,000) hydraulic lift for the garage.

The state, in its mysterious ways, allows a municipality to buy a truck as a capital expense outside the cap limit. But a car, even a police car, must be bought under the caps, and cannot be a capital expense. In 1980, the Township bought two trucks and a tailgate patching roller, outside the caps.

In the 1981 capital budget are a back-hoe replacement ($25,000); a dump truck ($19,000); sidewalk a snowplow ($9,000), and a tractor with lime-spreader ($7,000). The Township won't necessarily buy items just because they are in the capital budget. It is really a kind of wish-list

Tax Office Wants Computers. With 1980's reassessment still vividly in mind, the tax office is asking the Township to spend $20,000 in start-up costs for subscribing to a computerized system that would keep assessments current. At the end of each year, the computer would tell the tax office the current valuation for each piece of property. Changes, as a garage is converted to a game room, or aluminum siding is added, could be incorporated into the program.

"It's either this," Mr. Nini says, "or we hire people to do the job, because we're getting lots of building permits.

Engineering has a computer in mind, also. In its $15,075 request, this department is asking $5,000 for programmable computer which can do calculations,

Buy McCarter Tickets Now. New Year's Eve isn't just party night. December 31 is the last day you can buy tickets at McCarter Theatre's current price scale, and the theatre is suggesting that you order tickets now for anything you want to attend in 1981. (Exceptions to the ticket price-rise are Princeton University Concerts, Triangle productions, the Garden State Chamber Orchestra, the New Jersey Symphony and films.)

You could start January 20, opening night for two plays sponsored by McCarter. One is "Eminent Domain," a new play by Percy Granger which is next in the 1980-81 season of productions by the McCarter Theatre Company. It's about an aging professor of English in a world where English courses are called "Com-

> And only two days later -Monday and Tuesday, January 26 and 27, you can take the whole family to 'Mummenschanz.'' If you didn't order tickets in time when the troupe was here last year, McCarter says you should move fast this time.

Movies-from-McCarter will start up the second semester on February 3-4 with showings of "The Last Wave," followed on February 10 and 11 by 'Meetings With Remarkable Men." Other February films will be "Tom Horn" on February 17 and 18 and "Woyzeck" on February 24

As you know, these movies are screened at Kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical Building on the Princeton University campus.

Because of unprecedented subscription sales for the dance series, McCarter has scheduled the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theatre for an additional performance on February 11. The subscription performances will be February 9 and 10. The performances company reflects both black and white cultures in the United States through its combination of jazz, modern and classical dance.

"Kiss Me Kate" is this season's P.J.&B. musical, and it will be directed by Milton Lyon, who moved from Princeton, but has returned for this assignment. The Cole Porter classic will be presented February 19 through February 22, with choreography by Joan Mortan Lucas.

Familiar Songs. As you know, "Kiss Me Kate" is based on "The Taming of the Shrew," and it has songs like

"Brush Up Your Shakespeare," as well as "So In Love," "Another Opening, Another Show," "Always True to You In My Fashion," and on McCarter's final mid-winter offering is Alexander Schneider conducting The Brandenburg Ensemble in the group's second appearance at the Music-at-McCarter series. The Ensemble's 16 chamber musicians specialize in the Baroque and classic repertoire. Date: February 23.

Princeton Regional School

Highlights is sponsored and prepared by the Parent Teacher Organization of the Princeton Regional Schools.

After their enormous success at Halloween, the K-1-2 of Miss Rowland and Mrs. Hunsinger are slated for a return engagement at the Princeton Nursing Home.on Quarry Street. These COMMUNITY PARK SCHOOL performers will be singing winter songs, bringing placemats that they made themselves and will surely be providing lots and lots of good cheer

Also at CP, a very special "Global" exhibit has been set up in the display case by Mr. Lynch and Connie Escher, featuring toys and games of every description from countries around the world

SCIENCE AT JOHNSON PARK. The kindergarten and first grade children from Miss Turner's and Mrs. Shtier's classes visited the New Jersey State Planetarium to augment their studios of the earth, the planets and the solar system. At the planetarium, the children saw a presentation on the constellations and learned how to recognize some well-known star groups like the Big Dipper and Orion.

Miss Turner's first graders will continue their study of the earth by fearning how to take care of their environment and natural resources. The class has already conducted a clean-up around the school and the surrounding woods and has walked to Pretty Brook to learn about water, one of our most important resources.

Nutrition has been an exciting science unit for Mr. Dull's fourth and fifth graders. The unit not only educated the students about good food and eating habits, but also made them aware of labeling, diet and the psychology of advertising. While studying advertising, the class became aware of how adjectives and packaging can onhance the appeal of a product. They also looked at how foods are displayed in a supermarket and how the display affects what is bought. In addition, different foods were brought into the classroom so that the class could learn how to interpret the information that is presented on food labels. Packaged foods from other countries were also brought to class in order to compare label information. The role that government agencies and regulations play in determining what we gat was also discussed. During their study of diet, the class learned about the four food groups and discussed many aspects of good nutrition. For example, they talked about what foods are nutritious, what constitutes a "junk food," and what is meant by good eating habits.

JOHN WITHERSPOON REPORTS that the B-Wing dance on Dec. 6 was considered a great success by all concerned. A number of students get a chance to play "disc jockey" while their friends and classmates danced. Retreshments consisting of soft drinks and baked goods added to the fostivities.

Mrs. Hollander's and Mrs. Ives' classes recently enjoyed a performance of "A Christmas Carol" at McCarter Theater. A pizza lunch followed the parformance.

ART In Princeton

CALLIGHAPHY SHOWN

At University Art Museum. Oriental art and calligraphy always make a great many demands upon the viewer. In exchange, these works provide a combination of aesthetic and intellectual experiences that are not easily obtained elsewhere. The Intricate landscapes, scrolls composed of hundreds of enmplex, often heautiful symbols, and exquisite but brief visual comments on nature, express the nesthetics and, often the philosophies of a culture remote from our own.

The many pleasures and complexities to be found in this art ore apparent in the exhibition of Calligraphy and Painting of the Sung and Yuan Dynasties on display at the Princeton University Art Museum. Scrolls, nature studies, landscapes and figurative works illustrate the variety of subject - and even - present within the style formal structure characteristic of this art.

It is said that "To see a man's calligraphy is to see his face," and careful scrutiny reveals the individuality that exists within the many written scrolls that are on display.

Although the character is already determined by its meaning there are some in which it is possible to find a vigorous geometry while others are almost voluptuous in their use of line. Subtle differences in structure make some formal and precise and others almost energetic in

The same distinctions exist within the delicate con-struction of the figurative works. There are those built of tone, others of line and some, of color. In each case, there is a distinctive character to the

The many landscapes included in the collection area combinations of tone, texture and evocative imagery that canont be easily described. Instead, they must be seen in order to appreciate their intricacy, their poetry, and to experience these fine and gentle portraits of land, trees and sky.

Variations on Realism. Although realism has been the dominant form in art for well over one thousand years, its definition has been radically expanded by the many different ways that con-temporary artists have chosen to deal with the lamiliar the vastness of the view. Finely developed works, mainly sea and sky with an occasional glimpse of land. use just enough minute detail to intensify the effect of the large area. Restrained color is combined with careful brushwork to convey the tonal drama of sky and water.

A collection of larger-than-life still lifes of the commonplace by Larry Chestnut contrast to Packard's condensation of the entire landscape into several square inches. Pencils, palette knives, a tube of paint and similar subjects are realistically rendered in heroic scale. The gigantic similar renditions of the familiar are executed in bright colors heightening their unlikely but voguish aspect.

Drawings Aschenbach are also featured Figure studies are skilfully executed using wash, pencil, and pen and ink. Although they are essentially traditional, their exceptional essentially technique and sensitivity makes them noteworthy. Intensely real renditions are developed using subtle tone, fine line, and occasionally, tonal and textural area that transform the sketch into a fully developed, finished work

At Gallery 100. A new collection of paintings by Ken McIndoe offers richly painted landscapes, some nature studies and an interesting interior. This artist continues to develop his subject using a heavy impasto and vigorous color that creates strong movement, even within static compositions. The technical characteristics of his work lend a sense of structural drama to essentially traditional paintings.
A painting of the interior of a garage is the most interesting in this display. McIndoe's skill as a colorist is evident in the rainbow of colors that he has discovered within this commonplace, often dreary subject.

Cars, machinery and the bits of detritus that tend to accumulate in garages are presented with a radiance that makes them a little less familiar but a good deal nicer to contemplate.

At the Nassau Gallery, A seasonal offering of Yuleinspired pen-and-ink vignettes by Princeton artist, Henry Martin, are featured in the December display. These tiny works of art have appeared as spot illustrations in the Saturday Review, Friar Magazine and the Wilson Library Journal.

Partridges, pear trees, jesters and other creatures, all appropriately seasonal, are rendered into simplified lack and white shapes that convey the season's cheer.

Betonging to Princeton Man. A collection of Chinese and Japanese paintings and screens which belonged to a Princeton resident will be offered at auction at Sotheby's New York this Thursday at its York Avenue Galleries on 72nd Street. The works are from the estate of the late Chester Dale Carter. The auction marks the first time a single owner collection is being offered.

Many of the pieces in the Carter collection have been widely published and exhibited at the Brooklyn Museum, the Detroit Museum, the University of Michigan Museum and elsewhere. In addition to paintings, Mr. Carter collected archaic bronzes, a number of which were auctioned by Sotheby's last November. However, the Lions of North Hunterdon in a outshot the Corn, 10-9. 7:30 match.

Saturday, PHS will be at match and Tuesday evening will be at North Brunswick. Last year, the Little Tigers won nine and lost nine.

SOCCER TITLE WON

By Sweet Jersey Corn. The Sweet Jersey Corn women's soccer team won the first championship of the Mercer County Major Soccer League Sunday by defeating Andy's Tavern 1-0. Both of the Princeton teams had taken identical records of nine wins and one loss into the contest, having split their two previous en-counters during the regular season.

Clare Baxter, Sweet Jersey's leading scorer with 13 goals, got the game's only score, on an assist from Dee Pearce, with 4:55 gone in the first quarter. Strong defensive play on the part of both teams
